

Create your own

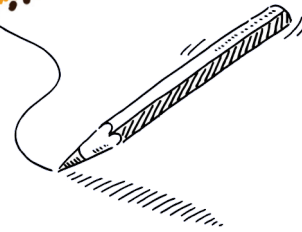

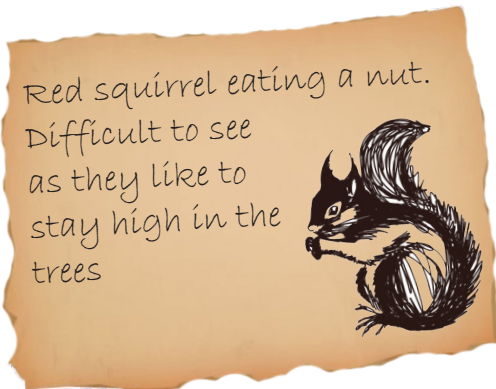

Scientist's Notebook

Find animals in the Museum or in an outside green space and draw or write about what you see in the notebook below. Scientists do this when they explore the natural world.

Scientists will often make notes about the animal

Some scientists draw the creatures they see

They might write down where they saw it and what it was doing

